

Privacy Policy and Terms of Use

Last updated: 16 July 2020

Studio Soho Distribution is committed to protecting your privacy. To best protect your privacy we provide this Notice explaining our online information practices and the choices you can make about the way your information is collected and used.

Information We Collect

When you visit our website, you are able to do so without disclosing any personal information about yourself. We would only collect information in the future if we were to introduce new services to our website, such as newsletters to keep subscribers up to date with future releases, or contact forms to answer queries via emails.

At this point we do not offer those services, however this Notice will change in order to reflect new privacy measures if we introduce additional services.

Cookies

We do not put cookies on your computer if you are visiting the site, nor do we work with any advertising tracking service which may use cookies.

A cookie is a small amount of data, which often includes an anonymous unique identifier that is sent to your browser from a website's computers and stored on your computer's hard drive. Cookies operate in the background, and many websites use them for personalised advertising purposes, you are able to turn them off if you wish via your browser settings.

Links to Third Party Websites

Our website contains links to other websites operated by unrelated third parties. Please note that we are not responsible for the privacy practices of third party websites. We encourage you to be aware of this when and if you leave our website and to read the privacy policies of every website that collects personally identifiable information from you. This Privacy Policy applies only to this website.

Notices and Revisions

We may change this Policy in the future, to reflect changes in the services we offer. If we make any changes to the Policy, we will revise the date which can be found at the top of this page.
